

Hypersoft Solutions Make Enterprise IT Management Easy and Transparent

Hypersoft state-of-the-art software ensures true end-to-end proactive monitoring for optimal service delivery by the companies all over the world

Barcelona, Spain November 12, 2007

Hypersoft Information Systems, a worldwide leading vendor of metric and analysis software for IT service management, presents at the IT Forum 2007 its innovative business service metering solutions OmniAnalyser™ and OmniContext™ which allow to successfully plan and manage the service delivery processes. Enterprises all over the world can now successfully improve their existing IT infrastructure productivity and management with the software tools from Hypersoft.

Hypersoft state-of-the-art software ensures quality, availability, and cost-effectiveness for a broad range of infrastructure and application services. The end-to-end service delivery metrics represent meaningful performance indicators for both business users and service providers. Hypersoft solutions now support Microsoft Exchange Server 2007, Forefront Security, Sharepoint Services, and Office Communication Server 2007. Hypersoft software delivers the most comprehensive and business-relevant end-to-end service metrics, such as complete message transit times, perimeter transaction processing delays, instant messaging transaction latencies, for most common enterprise infrastructure services. In particular, that includes messaging and collaboration, directory, perimeter, and network services.

Hypersoft OmniAnalyser™ and OmniContext™ are the only solutions that deliver a homogeneous view of IT service quality and volume across multiple applications and technologies in the company's IT infrastructure. The business-relevant metrics produced by Hypersoft
